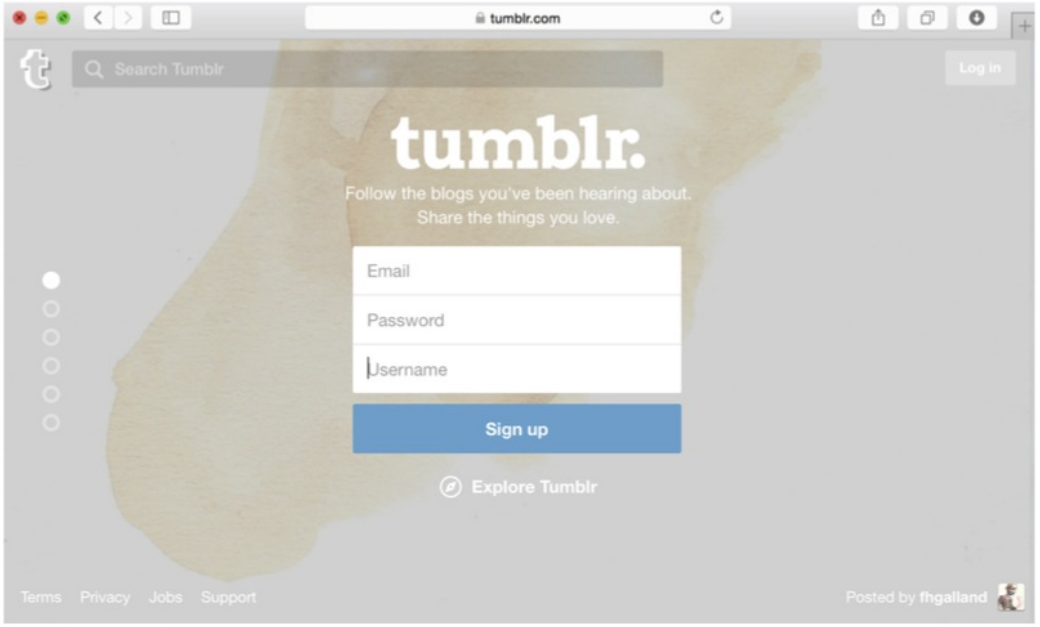
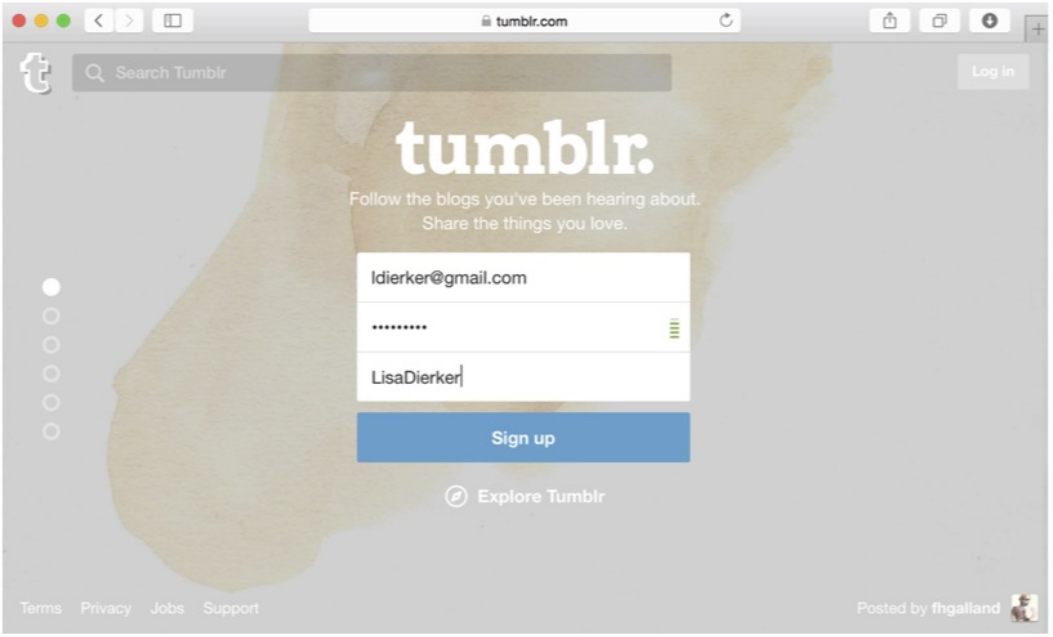
You may create your blog on any platform you like. For those new to blogging, we recommend Tumblr for its accessibility.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SETTING UP YOUR TUMBLR BLOG

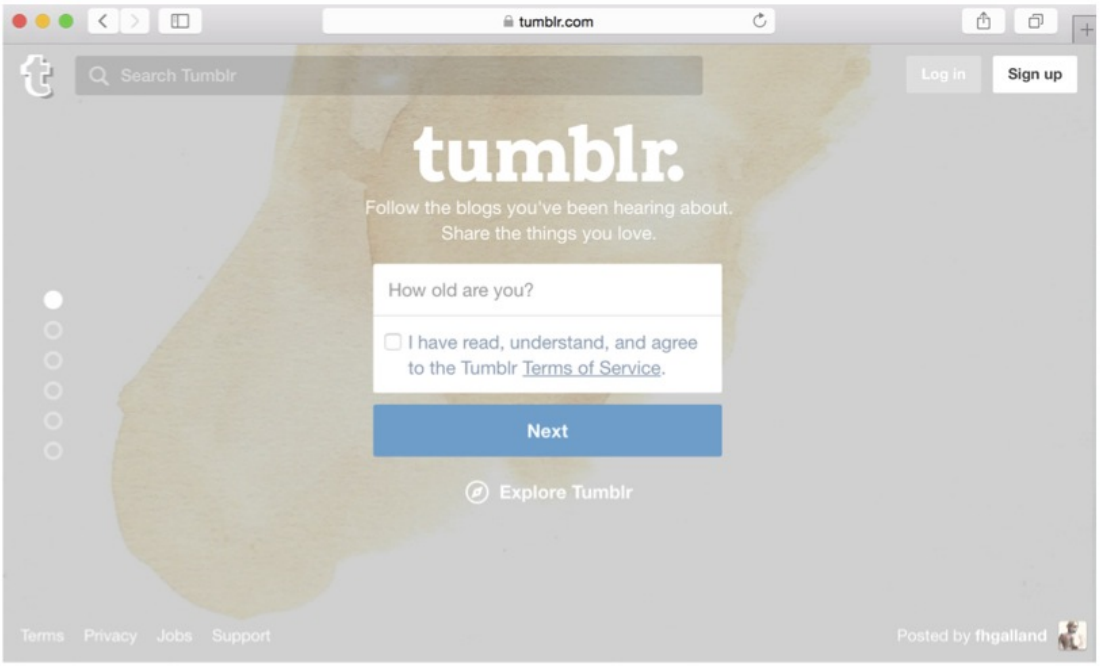
1. Go to www.tumblr.com
2. If you already have a Tumblr account, login and skip to step 9.



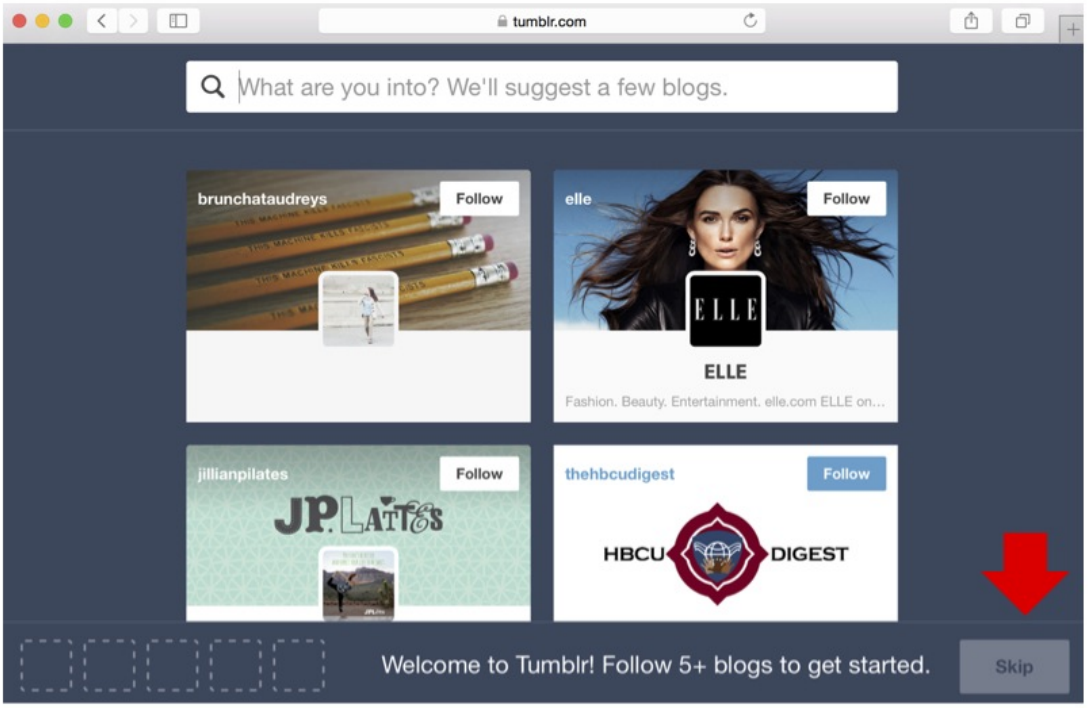
3. Enter your e-mail address, select a password of your choosing (write it down so you don't forget it) and choose a username.



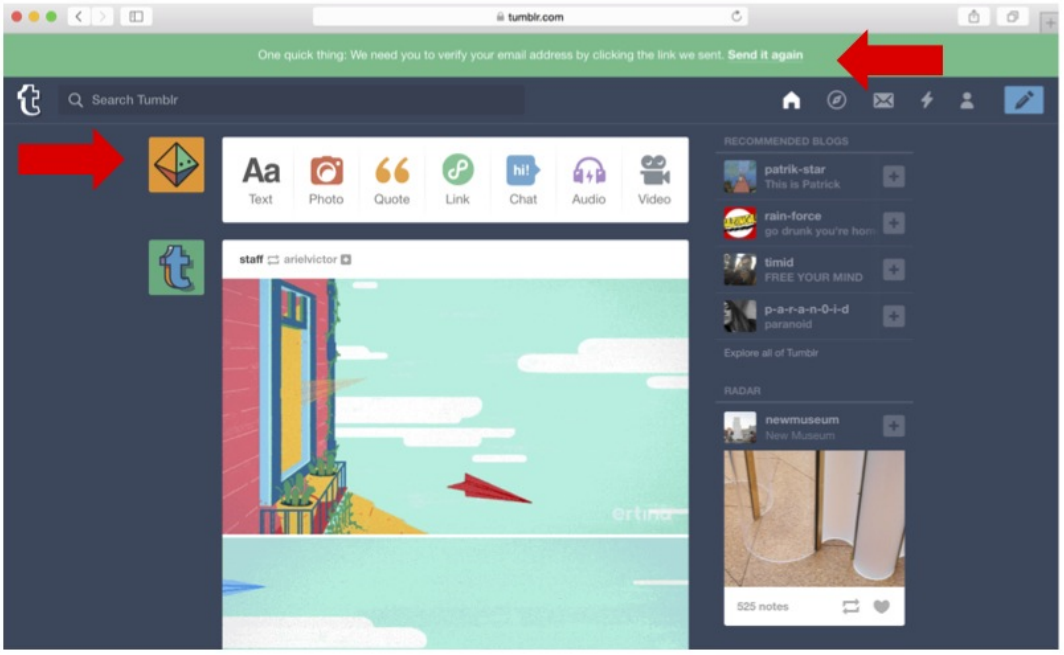
4. Enter your age. Read theTerms of Service before clicking on the box acknowledging that you understand and agree to them. Then click “Next”.



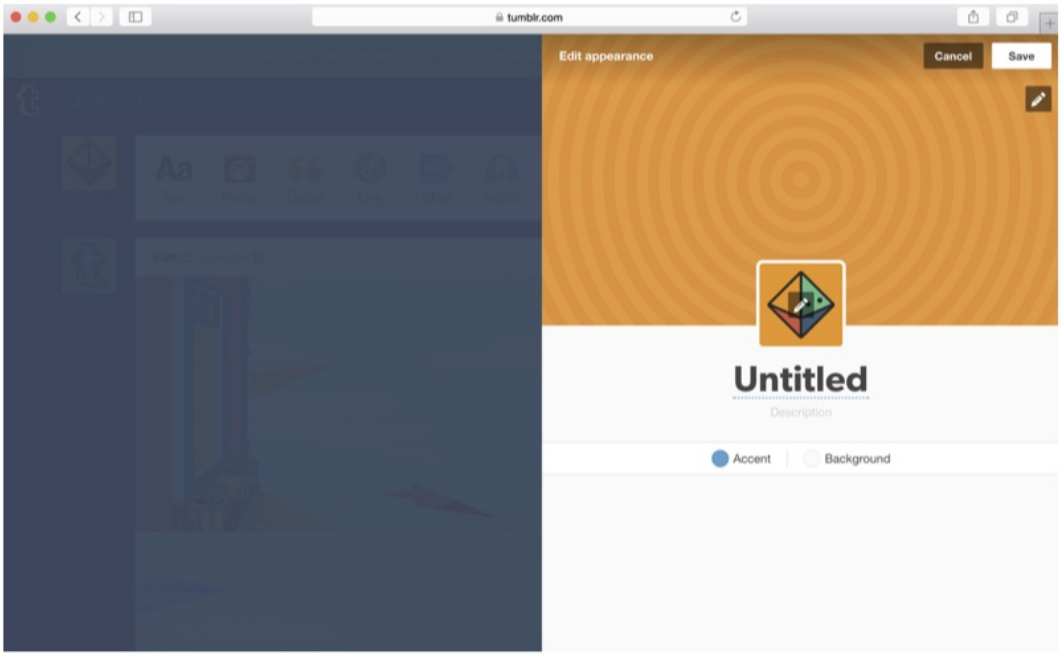
5. You will be forwarded to a page that asks you to follow 5+ blogs you like. Feel free to skip this page (Skip button at bottom-right of the page).



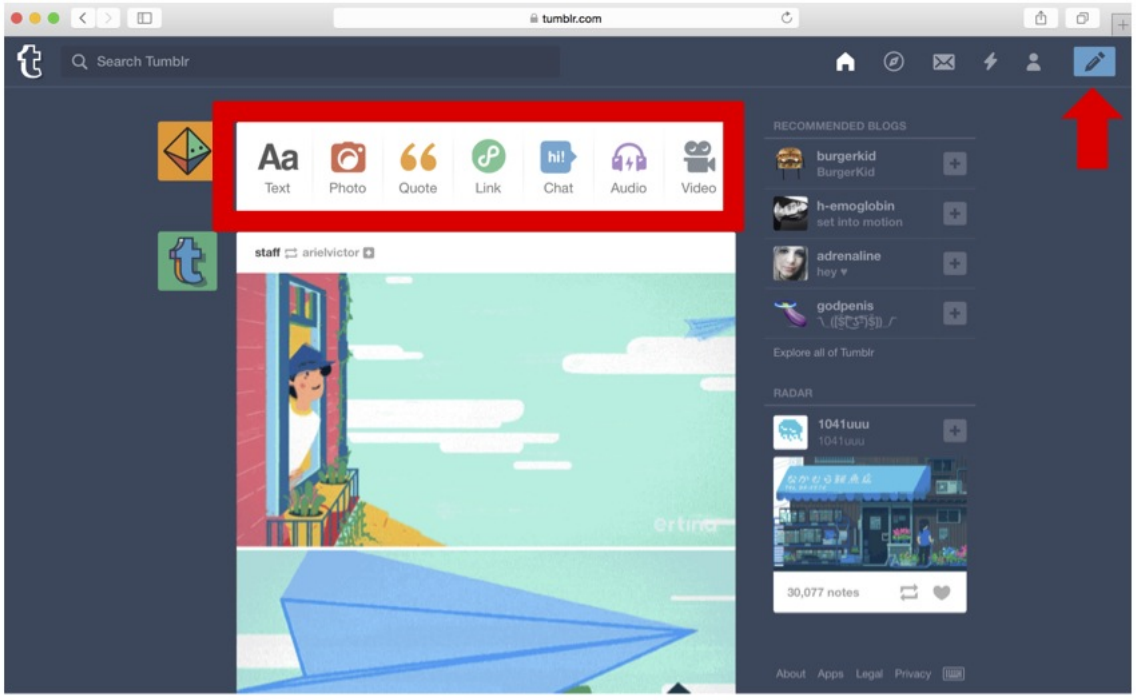
6. Next, there will be a message at the top of the screen asking you to verify your email address by clicking the link in the e-mail that Tumblr will have sent you through the e-mail address you provided. After veryifying your e-mail address, you should place your cursor over your blog's icon on the left and click "Edit appearance".

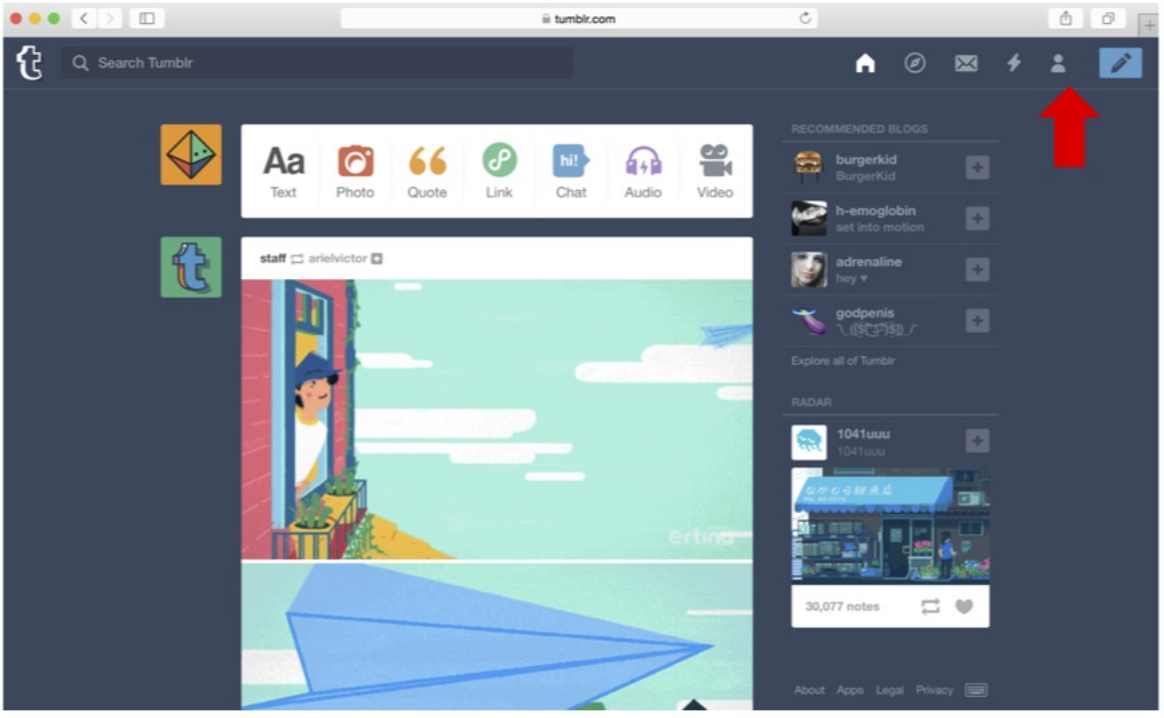


7. A new screen will pop up that allows you to change your blog title from "Untitled" to something of your choosing. You may also choose to provide a description for your blog. In this screen you can customize the appearance of your blog but that is not necessary at this time. Be sure to click "Save" when you're done. Click anywhere to the left of the edit box to return to your dashboard.



8. You may select any of the posting options at the top of your dashboard or click the pencil icon on the right to begin posting!





9. If you already have a Tumblr account, click the account icon on the top right and then click "+New" in the BLOGS section. Enter the information for your new blog and click "Create blog". Follow steps 6 through 8 to begin posting.
