GapMinder data

I decided to work with GapMinder data. The question I'm interested in is if femaleemployrate associated with total employrate, and if there is dependence between employement rate and income per person in a country. So I include these metrics in my data table.
The hypothesis that I would like to check after literature review is that there should be dependence and in would be interesting to evaluate this dependence.