Introduction

In this lecture we will formally introduce the concept of discrete-time signal, together with examples of the most common signals we will encounter in the rest of the course. We will also talk about basic operations on discrete-time signals, which will enable us to start designing simple algorithms in the next lecture.

✓ Completed

Go to next item

👍 Like　　👎 Dislike　　🏳 Report an issue